VIOLATION OF TRUST

Boatner After the Union Pacific.

$35,000,000 AND INTEREST DUE

One of the Most Important Propositions Submitted to Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—One of the most important propositions submitted to congress will be presented to the house tomorrow by Representative Boatner of Louisiana. The proposition will recite the numerous defaults of the Union Pacific railroad and continuous lines to meet the debt due the United States. It will charge the present and past directors of the road with a violation of trust, improper absorption of outside lines, and voting dividends contrary to law and against the interests of the United States.

It will direct that the President appoint special counsel to institute suit against the present and past directors, their heirs and legal representatives, to collect $35,000,000 and interest. The amount in litigation would exceed $40,000,000. It would be the biggest lawsuit in the history of the country. The proposition goes into the history of the operation of the Union Pacific and arraigns the directors sharply. It will be referred to the judiciary committee, of which Boatner is chairman.

MRS. EGGLESTON'S MURDERER.

A Distant Relative Named Watkins Arrested.

CARSON, Nev., March 14.—The man who murdered old Mrs. Eggleston at her ranch near Coleville, Mono county, Cal., some time between Wednesday night and Thursday morning last was captured at Bridgeport, Cal., yesterday. His name is Dick Watkins. It was proposed to lynch him, but the sheriff placed guards around him and prevented it. The motive for the crime could not be learned. Some years ago Watkins got angry with a boy out in the woods and told him to say his prayers and then killed him. It was some time before the murder was discovered and the matter blew over as the people were afraid of Watkins as he is regarded as a dangerous man. He has only one leg. Watkins is distantly related by marriage to Mrs. Eggleston.

The Tyrrell Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—The principal witness in the case of John Tyrrell, who is on trial for the dynamite outrage of last September, took the stand this morning. His name is W. H. Graham, and the evidence he gave supplied the link in a chain of circumstances anything but favorable to Tyrrell. He testified that he was in the building adjoining Curtin's boarding house when the explosion occurred, and that a few minutes before he had seen Tyrrell and two other men sneaking through the yard with a valise and acting in a mysterious manner. Witnesses were called who gave testimony showing Graham to have a long record of crime and that his reputation for truth is very bad.

Two Trains Wrecked.

BAKER CITY, Or., March 14.—Two wrecks occurred on the Oregon Short line last night. Passenger train No. 2, east bound, was ditched near Mountain Home, Idaho. It is reported that the fireman, mail clerk and three tramps were killed. Freight train No. 24 was derailed two miles west of Durkee by running over a cow. The engine and six cars left the track. The engine turned over and brakeman Phillips of Lagrande was killed instantly, and fireman Lessul, also of Lagrande, was so badly scalded by steam that he died this afternoon. Engineer Jackson was slightly injured.

In the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 14.—When the house of commons met today, Chancellor Harcourt announced that the government had decided to move the reconsideration and rejection of Labouchere's amendment to the reply to the Queen's address as passed yesterday. Harcourt stated that the government wished to substitute another short address in reply, stating in effect that the government did not wish to be held responsible for Labouchere's amendment demanding the abolition of the House of Lords.

The Jenkins Injunction.

WASHINGTON, March 14. — Judge Jenkins of the United States court, in reply to the notification of the congressional committee to investigate his Northern Pacific injunction, says if it is the intention merely to consider the legal correctness of his order he does not care to appear before the committee, but if his personal or official integrity is to be taken into account he will meet and refute the charges.

Caused a Great Stir.

CLEVELAND, March 14.—The membership list of one of the leading American Protective Association lodges, containing 700 names, has fallen into the hands of Catholics, and a great stir has been made by the ordering of a boycott of merchants whose names were found on the roll.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Allison's motion to reconsider the vote by which the seignorage bill was passed to a third reading being defeated by 28 to 45, Manderson moved to recommit with instructions; carried, 44 to 27.

J. T. Ford Dead.

BALTIMORE, March 14.—John T. Ford, proprietor of Ford's grand opera house, died this morning of grippe. The deceased was proprietor of Ford's theater, Washington, when President Lincoln was assassinated, in 1865.

Unequalled Republican Gains.

CONCORD, N. H., March 14.—Returns from the annual town elections show unequalled Republican gains. Towns which have been Democratic for years have gone Republican.

The Irish Flag.

BROOKLYN, March 14.—Mayor Schieren expressed himself today as fully determined to maintain the position he had taken in refusing the Irish flag to be raised on the city hall on St. Patrick's day, notwithstanding the resolution passed by the board of aldermen Monday. Without his approval the resolution is inoperative, and the passage of the resolution over the veto cannot be done until ten days have elapsed and St. Patrick's day has passed.

THE RATE WAR.

Huntington Cannot Accept the Santa Fe's Terms.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—C. P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific, today gave final notice to President Reinhart of the Santa Fe that the latter's proposed basis of settlement cannot be accepted. It is now probable that all further consultations may be suspended within a few days. Reinhart demanded that the Southern Pacific withdraw its circular which gave notice that the Santa Fe would no longer be granted the privilege of selling tickets for travel over the Southern Pacific road from Los Angeles to Mojave. Reinhart also demanded that the Southern Pacific abandon the side ride from Sacramento to San Francisco.

Dead Babies Discovered.

MARTINEZ, Cal., March 14.—The bodies of two male infants were found in Pacheco creek six miles from here this morning. The babes were well developed and apparently about a day old when killed. No clue to the murderers.

AFTER THE WAR.

PEIXOTO TAKES POSSESSION OF THE FORTS.

Naval Officers Pleased That Da Gama Made His Escape.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The following from United States Minister Thompson at Rio was received, confirming the Associated Press reports late this afternoon:

"RIO, March 14.—Secretary of State, Washington:—Operations were directed by the president from the marine arsenal on the water front at 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Flags of truce were hoisted on Enchadas island. The president sent immediately, and ascertained that the whole force of insurgents were there with the exception of the officers, who had taken refuge on the French, Portuguese and English men-of-war. The surgeon alone remained with the forces. Da Gama had left on the French cruiser Junon. About 6 o'clock the government fleet entered the bay, led by the Nictheroy, and anchored in front of the city. The rebel war vessels and Forts Villegaignon and Cabras island were occupied this morning. Everything is tranquil.

"(Signed.) THOMPSON."

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The news of surrender from Rio de Janeiro contained in Minister Thompson's cable this afternoon was very welcome to Secretary Gresham, and to Secretary Herbert, particularly. To the first, it served to relieve him from the apprehension that something would occur which might involve the United States government in an ugly dispute with one of the combatants. To Secretary Herbert the surrender means the ability to relieve most of the American sailors who have endured much hardship and exposure to yellow fever and from further service at Rio, and to utilize the ships now there for duty in other places, where they are much needed. Naval officers here are well pleased that Da Gama escaped, believing he is a man of sterling qualities and brave to a fault. Assistant Secretary McAdoo said he presumed steps would be taken immediately leading to the dispersal of the American fleet at Rio.

Handsome Monthly Allowance.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Elizabeth A. Montgomery, widow of the late Alexander Montgomery, made application today to Judge Coffey for a monthly family allowance of $5000. The probate judge made an order granting her $2750 per month. The petition gives the value of the estate at $2,478,172.30.

Election of Senators.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The house committee on elections agreed to report Wednesday the bill providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

The Markets.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.— Wheat, Inactive; May, $1.12; December, $1.10½; Juud, $1.03½.
Corn, $1.10.

RIVERDALE ITEMS.

A Hall to be Built—Entertainment at Elkhorn.

At present Riverdale is deserted, by the men at least, they having all gone to Kingston to repair the dam. The weather is delightful, but the ground is badly in need of rain.

Everyone enjoyed himself at our dedication dance and could we always have as pleasant a time would not mind dedicating something every week.

S. M. Ballard is in Fresno on business.

Miss Maud Applegarth of Fresno is the guest of her cousin, Miss Dewey.

Mr. Charles Adams of Visalia, manager of the Burrell estate, attended the annual ditch meeting held at Liberty last week.

Four enterprising residents have started a subscription list for the purpose of building a hall. Mr. Ballard has donated the land whereon it shall be erected, and we understand that everyone has subscribed very liberally—so much so, in fact, that ere long another fine structure will grace our district.

Miss E. Thompson visited Fresno on Tuesday.

Miss Belle Ashbrook of Fresno is at present stopping in our community.

Liberty and Elkhorn districts will give a joint entertainment in Elkhorn school house on Saturday evening, the 24th inst. Everyone is cordially invited to be present, and after a pleasing program is rendered, a basket supper will follow. OBSERVER.

Riverdale, March 13, 1894.

Sanderini Dead.

Chris Sanderini, the young man who was run over at the depot and immediately thereafter shot himself, losing the sight of both eyes, died at the hospital yesterday. He was a native of Germany, and 19 years of age. At the inquest yesterday no blame was attached to the railroad company. At the request of the boy's mother, Mrs. Thea. Sanderini, the body was shipped to San Francisco last night.

THE NINTH DAY.

Wofford's Testimony Creates a Sensation.

WHY HEATH REMOVED HIS BEARD

He Saw Heath With a Chinaman on Mariposa Street After Midnight.

The court room contingent in the Heath case was treated yesterday, for the first time in the trial, with a genuine sensation.

In fact it was a day of recurring sensations in which the witnesses had successive innings, while the lawyers were so quiescent as to be inconspicuous.

J. G. Wofford opened the ball from the start with evidence of a damaging character to the defendant, if sustained and corroborated, and his cross-examination led from one sensation to another. The defense was merciless on cross-examination as will be seen by reference thereto.

Ike H. Walton was another new witness, whose evidence was brief and corroborative of another witness. J. W. Crow, another new witness, testified corroborative of Culver's testimony in the former trial, which was one of its irreconcilable contentions.

Thomas Price, the expert chemist, was present during the day, and set up a small laboratory in the south window, where he quietly conducted, with microscope and chemicals, an analysis of the discolorations about the bullet holes in McWhirter's garments, and will probably testify today. General Houghton of San Francisco, called here on business, also spent an hour in court during the afternoon.

MORNING SESSION.

At the opening of court Crittenden Thornton was sworn and placed on the stand, and it was stipulated that his evidence on the former examination should be read as his evidence in the case, and that the defense might further cross examine him thereon. Before doing so, however, he was withdrawn as a witness, and J. G. Wofford was sworn.

J. G. Wofford testified that he knew Heath, and also McWhirter in his life time. He was at the Democratic primaries in 1892. Some days after the primaries he had a conversation with Heath. He met Heath in the evening near the Fiske block, and went to get some tamales. Heath was under the influence of whiskey. He spoke of the trouble McWhirter had at the primaries with a man, and said McWhirter was trying to break up the Democratic party because he could not have his own way. Wofford said, "I thought you and McWhirter were friends?" He replied that they had been, and that McWhirter had helped him when others would not, but that he had got up a new set of delegates, and that any son of a —— who would get in and try to break up the party ought to be killed.

He had another conversation with Heath after the latter had a personal difficulty with Editor Baker, in which he brought up McWhirter's name again, and said that he and Baker were both working in together to break up the Democratic party because they could not run it, and that they ought to be killed, and that he could get a Chinese highbinder to kill them for $50.

He saw Heath Sunday afternoon August 28, 1892, at the Grand Central hotel, and arranged to buy two tons of hay of him.

Again about sundown he saw him sitting in front of the jail, and spoke to him again about the hay.

He next saw him about midnight on Mariposa street by the Loan and Savings bank, going towards the court house, in company with a Chinaman dressed in American clothes.

Some days after McWhirter's death he saw him in the court house park. It was about the time of the inquest. He noticed that Heath had had his full beard shaved off, and told Heath that he did not look so well as he did with a full beard. Heath said that the detectives were after him about the McWhirter case, but there was one thing—they would never hang him.

Wofford went to see him in jail a day or so after he was arrested, and Heath reached his hand through the bars and shook hands with witness, and said, "You are not trying to get up testimony against me, are you? We have always been friends." He said that he had been drinking a good deal, and had talked too much.

Cross examined by Mr. Tupper, he was asked if he had not been in straightened circumstances for the past two years, and answered not more so than other people in Fresno. He had been a deputy constable, special policeman and night watchman. As night watch he received from $50 to $75 per month, contributed by property owners. He denied that some of these people had refused to pay him; some had put him off a few days. He worked up to January 1, 1894. Some of the men said times were hard and that they couldn't pay him, and he quit.

He then went to San Francisco; was there about six weeks, looking for a job, and had not earned any money. He got some money from Louis E. Prusso to hunt up some witnesses in San Francisco in his case with Joseph Spinney. Prusso gave him $1 and promised to give him more. Since January 1st W. H. McKenzie had paid him $15 or $20, about January 6th, and the electric light company paid him $20, for lighting lamps, about the 9 h. His family consisted of eight persons, besides a married daughter who was with him part of the time. The members of his family earn some money. They get $20 a month for lighting lamps and one boy gets $12 a month for delivering papers and $6.50 as janitor of the schoolhouse.

During the recent trial of Mrs. McWhirter's case against the insurance company he was in attendance on the United States court in San Francisco part of the time. Was not among the witnesses every day. He met Lee Blasingame on Bush street. He was getting ready to come home. Lee asked him if he was a witness and he told him he was not; asked him if he was well acquainted with George Rupert; told him he was and how long he had known him, and Lee told him to stay as he might need him as a witness. Wofford told him he was short of money and Lee said he would pay his expenses and he agreed to stay.

That evening Lee gave him $1.50 on the corner of Market street, opposite the Palace hotel. After that he got $6 from George McWhirter. He went to the Grand hotel after the trial to see him and got the money; told him he was short of money and wanted to go to Los Angeles with Al Statham to get a job; could go by boat for $6 on a scalper's ticket. He had been rooming with Al Statham while down there.

He told George McWhirter that he was short of money and would like a little, and that he would see him in Fresno. He gave him $6 and said he could let him have that much. When he went to San Francisco he took $04 with him; left a few dollars with his family. When he got back from San Francisco he had $15 left. When he got the $6 from George McWhirter, Statham owed him money he had borrowed while there and he had a dollar or two on hand.

When he told McWhirter he was short he had about $10—was not positive as to the amount, it was from $8 to $15.

He went to McWhirter to get money, because he was from Fresno. There were fifteen or twenty other men from Fresno and they were all broke and had been to him to get money.

He was a candidate at the primaries of May 10, 1892. The first conversation was after that and before Heath's altercation with Baker, possibly a week or ten days after the primaries; met him between 10 o'clock and midnight in front of Burks' drug store in the Fiske block; shook hands, and went down to get tamales. They talked about the primaries. Had a conversation with Heath the night of the primaries about McWhirter. He had not mentioned this to Mr. Johnson of the defense. This was also at the Fiske block and between 10 and 12 o'clock at night. Heath said he had always liked McWhirter, but that he had got up a new set of delegates and was trying to break up the Democratic party and ought to be killed. In the second conversation he said the —— son of a —— ought to be killed and he could get a Chinese highbinder to do the job for $50.

He told W. H. McKenzie of this a few days after McWhirter was killed, and told John Mears of this after the first trial. Was deputy constable at the time; was in town during the last trial, and attended it part of the time; read the report of it in the papers. Did not tell anyone of these declarations of Heath's.

When he told W. H. McKenzie what Heath had said he asked him to say nothing about it, and enjoined secrecy. He knew that there was a large reward offered, and that McKenzie was one of the persons offering it, when he enjoined secrecy. When he told Mears of it he did not tell it all; did not tell him about hiring the China highbinder for $50; told him Heath said McWhirter ought to be killed.

In San Francisco he talked with Lee Blasingame, George McWhirter, C. J. Stilwell and Detective McFarlane, during the recent trial there, but told none of them what he knew of this matter. May have told Al Statham; thinks Mears told Walser of it, as Walser had been after him to find out what he knew. He would not tell him, as he did not want to be a witness in the case. After he had been subpœnaed in this case he went to F. H. Short's office with Mears on Tuesday and said to Mr. Short that he did not want to be a witness in the case. Mr. Short told him that he would be sworn anyway, and then he told what he knew.

Saw Heath on the J street side of the Grand Central hotel; asked him how he was getting along; said he was foreman of a ranch out near Barton's and that he had brought in a load of hay. Don't recollect that he said anything about coming in to get Chinamen to pick grapes. He brought in baled grain hay and took it to Henry's stable. He was to bring me in two tons of the same kind the next day or Tuesday sure. I told him I would meet him along there in the afternoon and show him where I lived; had showed him my house once when he was full and I took him out to get him on the right road home. No time was fixed when I was to meet him. The way he talked he was going to stay all night. I just supposed he would as he had stayed all night and thought he would do so again. He said he would be here the next afternoon. This conversation occurred between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon; think it was about 3 o'clock. He was to pay $8 or $9 cash for the hay. Nothing was said about when he was going out.

Witness then went up to the courthouse park; was park policeman at the time; left Heath at the Grand Central hotel. Next saw him about 5 o'clock sitting in a chair in front of the jail or by the jail door. Spoke to him again about the hay and told him to be sure and bring it in. Sheriff Hensley was there. He either was sitting down or passed by at the time within a few feet and could have seen them. There was no electric light; it was after dark. It may have been nearer 7 than 6 o'clock. Heath did not seem to be drunk; talked only a few minutes. He said nothing about grape-pickers at that time. A few minutes later he saw Heath go down toward the Grand Central hotel alone.

Witness went down to Los Angeles a few days ago on a pass telegraphed him by George Sabin on business connected with the arrest of Jones, who was supposed to have something to do with the Roscoe robbery. He did not see F. W. Polley and was not looking for him. His trip there had nothing to do with this case whatever.

About 12.30 of the night McWhirter was killed he came down Mariposa street and met Heath and a Chinaman alongside the Loan and Savings bank going towards the court house. He had seen the Chinaman in Chinatown and once on Mariposa street at the intersection of J, going in the direction of the Farmers' bank. The electric light was burning at Mariposa and J streets when he met Heath and the Chinaman. He took the outside of the walk and Heath and the Chinaman the inside, Heath being next the wall; did not speak to them or pass the time of day; said nothing about the hay. They showed no disposition to avoid Wofford, and neither of them had a bundle in their hands. Was close enough to see them if they had had one.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The cross-examination of J. G. Wofford was resumed. He testified that at the former trial he had been drawn as a juror to try the case and being put on his voir dire had qualified.

CANDIDATES are so thick in San Jose that plain voters are crowded into the suburbs.

SOME men are so mean that if they were put in the pound they would refuse to bail themselves out.

MR. GEBHARD, he of Langtry fame, has presented his affianced with a silver bath tub. The lady should certainly take a hint given a form so delicate and expensive.

A HAZING gang in a Pennsylvania college has been sued for $10,000 damages inflicted on a student by cutting off his mustache. Even the freshman will turn when you tread upon his mustache.

THE number of prominent Democrats in this county who are discovered to have Populistic leanings as the time for nominating conventions approach is significant. It begins to look as though the Fresno Democracy were going out of business—but it isn't. It is merely hunting for somebody to rake the chestnuts.

MRS. BLACKMAN of the Leavenworth, Kansas, police board, has created a political zephyr by demanding the discharge of all bachelors from the police force of that city. Justice would be tempered with mercy by granting a few days of grace to the offenders and offering them the alternative of marriage or a swift kick into the ranks of the undeserving unemployed.

CONSIDERABLE inquiry is being made as to what has become of the Selma drum-beating case which attracted so much attention several weeks ago, and which was brought before the superior court for solution. The Selma council is probably not losing any sleep while awaiting the decison, but the strain must be terrible on the suppressed enthusiasts whose drums and horns were silenced by municipal ordinance.

BAKERSFIELD is to have a drain tile and sewer pipe factory. Enough drain tile and sewer pipe are used in Fresno county alone to make such a factory profitable here, and the demand is certain to increase in the future. The rich subirrigated lands of this valley will demand drainage by means of tiling in the course of a few years, and the increased production will more than repay the expense. There is a good business opening here for a practical man in that line, and has been for several years past.

THE Heath trial at Fresno is developing the usual amount of excitement. A "half dozen men stood glaring at each other, each with his hand on his gun, waiting for but the word to begin an indiscriminate slaughter" in the streets yesterday. Dear, dear! This is too bad. It must be a great privation to make the men wait so long. Can't some one discover what "the word" is and give it?—San Francisco Post.

As the only people in Fresno who have even been talking about fighting is a San Francisco lawyer and another resident of that city, the Post should be able itself to supply "the word" which signalizes hostilities among the belligerents from down by the bay whose waters are grisly with the remains of murdered folks.

THE bloodless end of the Brazilian rebellion illustrates the reluctance with which nations now engage in war that amounts to more than a perfunctory exchange of hostilities at long range. The terrible destructiveness of modern engines and armaments of war evidently has much to do with the disposition of those who are in a fighting mood to engage in a contest of arms. If the use of modern guns and other implements of destruction were prohibited, European war rumors would change within half a year's time to accounts of the greatest war in the annals of history. The war spirit is not yet dead, but a knowledge of the inevitable results causes nations to hesitate to engage in that barbarous enterprise.

NOW THAT Mr. Butler has succeeded in getting a tariff of 1½ cents a pound on Zante currants, we trust that he will inform an anxious public whether the currants are taxed as a necessity or a luxury. This information is necessary, to stop the sanguinary conflict which has been raging between the Expositor and REPUBLICAN of Fresno. This great question should not be left unexplained like the mysterious difference that has long existed between tweedledum and tweedledee.—Oakland Times.

Unless the duty is changed from the insignificant 30 per cent ad valorem proposed, further discussion as to whether or not a dried fruit selling at a little more than 1 cent a pound is a luxury will hardly pay the tariff on blank paper, to say nothing about wear and tear on expensive editorial intellect and things of that sort. When the tariff drops out of cents into mills, able journals like those of Fresno can no longer afford to expend their valuable space in discussing the character of that duty. Unless the mistake of the senate committee is rectified, the Times will have to look elsewhere for information on this important subject.

THERE were exported from the San Joaquin valley during 1893 64,027,281 pounds of raisins, 2,375,635 pounds of dried grapes, a total of 66,402,916 pounds. Since January 1, 1894, there have been shipped 175 carloads, or about 4,200,000 pounds. There are still remaining unsold and unshipped about 275 carloads, or 5,500,000 pounds. Of this amount, something more than one-half has gone from Fresno. The shipment of large quantities of raisins early in the season caused a glut in the market, and some sales have been made of layers at one dollar a box. At this price the grower would receive a net return of 29 cents a box, or a little less than a cent and a half a pound. These figures show that the production of California raisins is already sufficient to supply the American demand, and that home competition is all that is required to cheapen prices to the consumer. A tariff on a "revenue only" basis, or just large enough to allow foreign competition without protecting the American grower, can have but one result, the destruction of raisin growing as an industry, and the eventual return to the high prices prevailing when the market was supplied wholly by importations.

G. W. Wicks Missing.

On the 27th of last February George W. Wicks, who lived with his family in Roberts precinct, left home, and has not been heard of since. He has a wife and a 15-year-old daughter, whom he left without means of support. He stated he had some work to do at a distance, and that he would return in a few days. He had been drinking heavily some days prior to his departure, and his wife took him to task for it. She believes he left her because he was offended at her reproving him. Wicks is about 39 years old, has blue eyes and grey hair. His height is 5 feet 9½ inches.

THE REPUBLICAN last night received the following special telegram from Los Angeles, which puts Wicks' disappearance in a different light:

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—G. W. Wicks, reported as missing from Fresno, is in this city and has letters showing that he has been in communication with his family since he left Fresno on February 7th.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

A WAY IN WHICH CITY EXPENSES MAY BE REDUCED

Without Destroying the Usefulness of Municipal Government to the Public.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—We have reached a point in our municipal financial affairs that should enlist the careful assistance, so far as is in his power, of every citizen of Fresno who has its present and future welfare at heart, be he in private life or a public servant. Two facts appear most prominent to our view: First, that Fresno, like many other towns in boom times, miscalculated its ability to inaugurate and maintain a system of municipal improvements that seemed at the time warranted by the rush and energy that for several years characterized its growth; and secondly, that with the observance of the strictest economy our present board of trustees have been unable to bring expenses within the limits of present available revenues. Although the city's funds are almost exhausted there still remains about three and one-half months unexpired term of the fiscal year, the expenses of which must be met in some manner. No matter who or what combination of circumstances is responsible for our present predicament the fact nevertheless stares us in the face, and is only a repetition of the same experience passed through last year.

Unless our municipal government is dissolved (which if possible is not desirable) one of two things is absolutely necessary: Vote bonds to raise the necessary funds to meet the deficiency or contract an indebtedness to be paid out of next year's funds. The first proposition would not only be expensive, but would in all probability fail to carry, as the people are already overburdened with taxation. Then the second becomes, under the circumstances, an unavoidable necessity. This seems to be the only choice, but as there is no prospect of any very material increase in taxable values in the near future, the same conditions that confront us now will be repeated a year hence—a depleted treasury several months before the expiration of the fiscal year. This teaches a valuable lesson of the great danger of inaugurating liberal and expensive improvements by municipalities, the expense of maintining which must rest with future administrations, when such are not based on present wealth and needs, but largely on prospective future growth and increase in taxable values.

But this affords no solution of the present difficulty. A pertinent question is what is the remedy? Evidently the expenses of government must be so arranged that they will not exceed its income. This can only be accomplished in one of two ways without further taxation, either cut off some of the items of expense entirely, or reduce their cost. With reference to the first proposition, it seems almost impossible to spare anything that will effect any material reduction of expenses without very much impairing the usefulness and efficiency of our municipal government in some of its departments. Our police, fire department and sewerage are absolutely necessary, and our street sweeping, sprinkling and lighting are very necessary to the convenience and safety of the people at large; hence to cut off or impair the usefulness of any one of these would be detrimental to a degree that can only be determined by experiment, which might in the end prove very expensive.

As to the second proposition, it would seem that a reduction of expenses could be secured here that would attain the desired result without working any very great hardship on any of the city's employes, and yet maintain intact all the elements of good government, and by doing so avoid working any harmful results to any class of our citizens. Considerable saving may be secured, it is believed, in street lighting without the necessity of discontinuing its use; something may be saved on salaries without any great injury to the salaried. The city attorney, marshal, assessor, clerk, recorder, street superintendent, police force, fire department employes, and perhaps others may all be able to stand a cut without impoverishment. It is true that efficient services merit good pay, and salaries should not be reduced below living rates in any emergency; but these are hard times, and it is not quite clear to any one why the city's employes should enjoy lucrative positions, if such must be maintained at the expense of the abolishment of some of the conveniences above mentioned, and for which the taxpayers have paid to enjoy.

It is true that it is not in the power of the board to reduce the salaries of some of those mentioned during their term of office, the same being fixed by law. This applies to those who are elected by the people, but with one or two exceptions does not apply to those appointed by the board of trustees. They hold their positions at the pleasure of the board, and their salaries may be changed at will. With reference to those, however, whose salary it is not in the power of the board to reduce, it could be arranged by the consent of those concerned, and it would be a public-spirited act on their part, and would show an appreciation of the trust reposed in them by the people.

No person, whether officially or otherwise, who is dependent wholly or in part on the city for the support of himself or his business should object to a curtailment of his emoluments down to a reasonable and fair compensation for the services he renders, which means in times like these a substantial reduction from existing salaries. Let every one in the city's service exhibit a little patriotism in the shape of self-denial, by cheerfully accepting a temporary reduction of salary, and this question can be settled to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned. Opened the Sewer With Prayer.

From the Stockton Mail.

The city of Los Angeles has completed an outfall sewer, and if the people down there didn't have a "formal opening" of that sewer the other day Aftermath is a willful prevaricator, and there wouldn't be a nickel for him in lying about it. Yes, they formally opened that sewer—opened it with prayer and closed it with a shovel. They made a ditch to carry off corruption, and they formed a long procession in honor of it, and eloquent speakers addressed the assembled multitude, and popular enthusiasm was at large among the orange groves, and—oh, it was great! When a Los Angeles man constructs a home for himself he doubtless hilariously celebrates the completion of the smaller buildings that go with it.

SHE WAS CRUEL.

And That's Why J. W. Boles Wants a Divorce.

J. W. Boles brought suit for a divorce in the superior court yesterday against Sallie I. Boles. Mr. Boles says he has had a very stormy life with Mrs. Boles. She treated him with such extreme cruelty that life became a burden to him.

On January 2, 1893, Boles says his wife used false, vile and abusive language to him. She charged him with criminal intimacy with certain lewd women in this city, and called him a liar and a pimp. On November 16, 1893, she absented herself from their home, and has refused to return. This she did without cause and without his consent, says Boles. They were married on September 29, 1890, and have two children. Boles asks that the bonds of matrimony between himself and wife be snudered, that the children be awarded to his wife, and that he be given permission to see them whenever he should desire to enjoy their company.

Court Notes.

No business was transacted in Judge Harris' department of the superior court yesterday. In Judge Holmes' department the court ordered on motion of the defendan's attorney that the testimony in the case of the people against A. M. Dillwood, burglary, be transcribed. This was the case whose trial was concluded Tuesday evening, resulting in Dillwood's conviction. An appeal will probably be taken. Dillwood's trial on a charge of perjury was continued without date by Judge Holmes.

A LOADED BLANKET.

IT CAUSES THE DEATH OF A TRAMP.

He Threw It to the Ground, Discharging a Pistol Inside.

Coroner Stephens received a telephone message from the Locan vineyard yesterday afternoon stating that a man had been accidentally shot near the vineyard. The body was brought to town and from a companion of the dead man, whom he only knew as Jack, the following facts were learned:

The two men were traveling along the railroad track from Sanger on their way to Fresno, looking for work along the road. Each carried a roll of blankets. They reached the Locan vineyard hardening on the track about noon and they decided to go to the house to see if they could get work and something to eat.

The dead man's companion went a few steps to get a drink from a creek. He was immediately startled by hearing the muffled report of a pistol. He ran to where he had left Jack and found him lying on the ground, bleeding from a wound in the neck. He immediately went to the vineyard and informed the foreman, who telephoned to the coroner.

The man was dead when aid from the ranch reached him. Upon examination it was found that he had thrown his bundle of blankets over the fence bounding the vineyard, and it seems he intended to cut across the vineyard to get to the house. In the roll of blankets was found a large 45-calibre Colt's revolver, which had been discharged by the concussion.

The revolver was encased in a leather sheath, the end of which was blown off. A large powder-burnt hole was also made in the blankets.

The bullet struck the unfortunate man in the throat a little to the right of the windpipe, coming out at the back of the neck. Death was almost instantaneous.

The dead man appears to be about 40 years of age, and is very gray. Nothing was found on his person to give a clue to his identity. An inquest will be held this morning at 10 o'clock.

TEMPERANCE COLONY.

A NON-CONSIGNMENT COMPANY FORMED THERE.

Meeting of the Farmers' Alliance. Amateur Theatricals in Vogue.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—While many problems of the day are pressing on for solution the paramount one with the producer at present continues to be the raisin question. This is as it should be, for agitation is education and every phase of the situation should be thoroughly gone over. While the plan as outlined by the committee and endorsed by the convention may not be perfect in all its details, enough is shown and done for us to see the necessity of co-operating and uniting to make it more perfect as time reveals its defects.

Co-operation and combination is the order of the day, and it is permeating all avenues of trade and commerce with an intensity hitherto unknown.

The one important thing is to select true, tried, honest and capable men for the responsible positions in such associations. Men who have ulterior motives and are selfish by nature should find no places of trust where the people's interests are concerned.

The people are in no mood to be trifled with in this matter and it behooves the board of directors of the association to act with care, with discretion, with honor and with absolute fairness.

The raisin-growers of Temperance colony have formed a "nonconsignment" organization. Its object is mutual aid and protection and against consignments. Meetings are being held in Kutner colony with the object in view of the building and establishment of a co-operative packing house at Las Palmas station. So much for the raisin situation. Now for other and more pleasant themes.

On the raisin question we claim to be up to date, and in a social way we boast of being the equal of any. The semi-monthly social and dance held at the hall is one of the many pleasant features of this place. They are always pronounced a success and are much enjoyed by all who participate in them.

The Farmers' alliance will hold an open meeting at the hall on next Saturday at 8 o'clock p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Shelton, president and lecturer of the county alliance, will be present. All members and their friends are cordially invited to come, and hear and enjoy the discussion of alliance principles and doctrines.

The Temperance Colony Social and Dramatic club will give their performance on Saturday evening, March 24th. To do justice to the play it was found necessary to erect a stage in the rear of the hall, which accordingly has been done. We have now a very imposing little theater, with footlights, several different scenes, and other theatrical paraphernalia. The play to be enacted is a four-act serio-comic war drama, entitled "The Spy of Gettysburg."

Those who have parts in its performance are: Messrs. A. E. Sunderland, Will R. Lane, E. C. Cunningham, William Butler, L. F. Ayers, G. W. Ball, W. C. Thurman and J. S. Ambrose, Mrs. Henry Stutzman, Misses Mamie Gee and Nan Scott.

The play is being given for the benefit of the hall fund, to pay off a small indebtedness and to finish it inside. The cause is a good one, and deserves liberal support. It is hoped there will be a full house. J. S. A.

He stated that when he was examined as a juror in the former trial, he did not say anything about these conversations with Heath, nor about the other facts testified to up to that time he had told no one but W. H. McKenzie. He had gone to his private room in the Loan and Savings bank somewhere from three days to a week after McWhirter's death and told him about Heath's calling McWhirter a son of a —— and that he ought to be killed.

In answer to Judge Shaw, he testified that he told McKenzie the conversation had with Heath about the hay; about seeing him after midnight with the Chinaman and the two conversations beside the Fiske block when Heath said McWhirter ought to be killed, and about hiring a highbinder to do the job. Did not tell him what Heath said about shaving off his whiskers. That conversation occurred after he talked with McKenzie.

To Mr. Tupper's questioning he testified that he heard that Heath was suspected within a day or two after the murder, and then went to McKenzie and told him what he knew, and pledged him to secrecy. His reason for this pledge was that there was a great deal of excitement and hot blood over the matter, and he did not want to make enemies, as he had a large family, and it might prevent him from obtaining employment.

When sworn as to his qualifications as a juror, in answer to questions propounded as to whether he had an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, he had not, and considerable time was spent in an endeavor to secure categorical answers, until Judge Shaw interfered and ordered him to answer without evasion.

He stated that he did not desire to serve as a juror in the former case and knew that he would not be accepted because he was an officer. He had not claimed his exemption at the time.

He had also asked Mears, when he talked with him, not to say anything about what he had said. He had not told Stillwell, Lee Blasingame or George McWhirter of any of these matters; had not paid the money back he got in San Francisco, but expected to. His further cross-examination was continued until the reporter could transcribe his statements as a juror, and was taken up later in the day.

John A. Richter of Easterby testified that he saw Heath in Fresno about 8.30 a.m. after the murder, and that he said to the witness that he had been accused of the murder. He was not cross-examined.

Ike H. Walton testified that between 9 and 10 o'clock of the morning of the murder, Heath accosted him on the corner of Mariposa and J streets, took him aside two or three steps and told him he was being accused of having killed McWhirter.

On cross-examination he stated that he told him to go and soak his head and go to bed. Heath did not tell him to deny the report if he heard any one repeat it. Several persons were close by. Did not notice Officer Cuthirth or "Dead Shot" Ward there. Witness was not sworn at the first trial. Walser sent for him before that trial and he told him what had been said on that occasion.

Grittenden Thornton testified that he was attorney for Mrs. McWhirter at the coroner's inquest and had made the examination of the premises, which resulted in finding the sixth bullet hole in the chicken yard fence, and identified this bullet and also another bullet taken from an old bullet hole in the same locality. His testimony was quite long and was substantially the same as in the former trial. The shot had at that time been recently fired into the fence where found.

He also explained how he had fitted back some osage orange brush in place in the vacant lot north of Mrs. Southwood's that some one had sawed a piece out of, in order to see how much had been cut out. When asked if he had exactly replaced the brush in its original position, he created a ripple of laughter by offering to eat it if he had not done so.

C. G. Bartgis, a barber of Sanger, testified that at the time of the tragedy he was running a shop on Mariposa street; that three, four or five days thereafter Heath came in and had his hair cut and his beard shaved off clean. Just before he went out of the shop he said, "Those ——— s think I killed McWhirter. What do you think?" Witness said he did not think he would do that. Heath then remarked that the shave changed his looks. Witness told him that it made him look devilish funny. His beard was about an inch long at the time.

On cross-examination he said he had told Stillwell that he shaved Heath, but did not retail to him the conversation that followed. He first told that on the witness stand at the last trial.

The reporter's notes of Wofford's examination as a juror on the former trial having been transcribed he was recalled and, by permission of the court, Mr. Foote conducted the cross-examination. The witness read the transcript of the examination on voir dire, of June 13, 1893, in which he stated that he had heard and read much of the case at the time; had not attended the coroner's inquest; had been on the premises twice; heard argument, etc., to quash the indictment; had discussed the matter but had formed no opinion and had been excused from the panel by consent of the attorneys on both sides.

Did not want to be on the jury; had no opinion or bias and has none now; did not tell what he had related to McKenzie because he was not asked; did not want to be put on the witness stand nor to be on the jury.

"Did you not go to Deputy County Clerk Steve Arthur and ask if you could be a juror if you was a deputy constable, and being told that it was a ground for excuse, did you not want your appointment revoked?"

"I don't recollect."

Witness was deputy constable under Charles Strivers; he filed his resignation as such, but could not say whether it was before or after he was summoned on that jury; he had been appointed night watchman.

On redirect to Mr. Johnson he stated that when witness first made his statement to him on Tuesday night Frank H. Short was present at the whole of the conversation.

A. V. Morse was recalled for cross-examination, and stated that at the conversation had with Heath at the Grand Central hotel in the presence of Charles Bonner on Sunday afternoon before the murder, he said he must hurry over to Chinatown to get some men to pick grapes at the vineyard.

J. W. Crow, who resides three miles west of town, was also a new witness produced. He saw Heath on Monday night after the murder in Fresno. There was some sort of a gathering of people on J street at the Grand Central hotel—Salvation Army or street fakir—and Heath came up and began to talk with him about his fight with Baker some time before. This was between 8 and 10 o'clock. He walked away, and shortly after met him by the Grand Central hotel, when Heath said, "Those ——— sons of ——— are accusing me of killing McWhirter!" Witness told him he was none too good to do it. Heath was in liquor and the witness out of humor.

On cross-examination, witness testified that he first told of this occurrence to Mr. Culver some time afterwards and found that he saw him the same night that Heath thrust a pistol in Culver's face. Did not know that Culver afterwards wanted to go on the stand and correct his testimony by stating that he was mistaken, and that Heath was not the man referred to. He still entertains the opinion expressed to Heath. Saw him first when he had trouble with Baker. Is sure that it was Monday night, the day of the murder, that Heath spoke to him. The fact that Johnny Henry and others testified that Heath was at that hour at the Curtis ranch near Sanger would not alter his belief. He did not see Heath have a pistol that night. The witness was interrogated as to his begins from Kentucky; his wanderings through Missouri to California, and then the court adjourned to 9.30 this morning.

H. H. GRIFFIN ARRESTED

THE MAN WHO HAD THE SUIT CLUB HERE.

Some of the Fellow's History—His Victims Fail to Prosecute.

Last December THE REPUBLICAN gave the particulars of the sudden departure of H. H. Griffin, who kept an employment agency here. He also started a suit club and victimized a number of people. When he left Fresno he also left several sorrowing creditors.

There was a very good looking young woman with Griffin, whom he passed as his wife, though she was the wife of Frank Safstrom, formerly a printer of this city. The nature of the relations between the woman and Griffin were known to the printers and a few others here, while a majority of the people who met the precious pair were inclined to congratulate Griffin on having such a pretty wife.

Frank Safstrom and wife lived in a lodging house here something over a year ago. Griffin roomed in the same place and while Safstrom was slaving at night setting type his wife and Griffin were doing their best to put him in the ranks of the worshippers of St. Gengoux, the patron saint of cuckolds.

One night Safstrom put on a "sub" at the printing office and went to his lodgings only to find that he had a sub there as well as at the printing office. There was a bloodless row and the erring pair moved to another part of the city. After several months they went to Bakersfield and then turned up in Fresno again, starting the employment agency.

After skipping from this city and his creditors he went to San Jose. About a week ago the authorities there, hearing of Griffin's Fresno record, arrested him. As no complaint was sworn out against him by his victims, however, he was released.

Griffin and Mrs. Safstrom are now in Gilroy, where Safstrom went after leaving Fresno. The shameless couple know he was there, nevertheless they persisted in living under the nose of the man they had wronged.

A Hero.

Of all the wretchedly underpaid American consuls we think the case of our representative at Santos, Brazil, is the worst. This unfortunate individual —a Maine man—receives the munificent salary of $1,500 a year. His expenses are $3,000 a year. He has buried his vice consul, has had yellow fever twice himself, resigns periodically, but still sticks pluckily to his post, waiting for his successor to be appointed and, what is more important, to accept the appointment. This consul deserves well of his country.—Bath Times.

The Curse Omitted.

An English paper says that on every Christmas day since the Napoleonic invasion of Russia in 1812 a prayer has been recited in all the churches of the czar's empire, calling down the curses of heaven upon the French. Indeed the anathema formed part of the Christmas day liturgy of the orthodox church. But on last Christmas day, Russia and France having become friendly, the czar ordered the cursing prayer to be omitted.

E. J. BULLARD HAS A PLEASANT EXPERIENCE.

How He Proved His Strength and Gallantry Last Sunday.

E. J. Bullard, the handsome and athletic secretary of the Fresno Flume and Irrigation company, had a very pleasant experience last Sunday, in which his biceps stood him in good stead. Some young men, weak of arm and leg and ever careful of their physical welfare, might have considered it an unpleasant experience, but Mr. Bullard is not that kind of a young man.

Sunday, it will be remembered, was an ideal day. The birds twittered, the sun shone, the grass grew and the saloons were closed. In the afternoon Mr. Bullard hired the finest rig in town and drove to the residence of a young lady for the purpose of taking her to Clovis to view the wonderful Pine Ridge flume.

The young lady in question is a very handsome one, of Junoesque figure, the eyes of a Venus and golden hair that even Aurora might envy. She was just dying to see the flume, and, of course, accepted Mr. Bullard's invitation to take a ride to Clovis.

After having been on the road some time, Mr. Bullard thought he would shorten the trip (the sly rascal—did he really think so?) by driving across country. Suddenly they came to a ditch, the water of which had overflowed the opposite bank, making a lake of goodly dimensions and uncertain depth.

Mr. Bullard boldly drove into the treacherous pool, and, sad to relate, the horse bogged. Moral suasion and flagellation proved equally unsuccessful in extricating the horse and themselves from the unpleasant situation. Finally Mr. Bullard bashfully rolled up his brand new trousers to within several inches of his hips, jumped into the water and made another attempt to get the horse to move—all in vain, however.

He then unharnessed the horse, and leaving the lady in the buggy, rode to a house near by to get help. There was no one at home, however, but the good housewife. Seeing a Chinaman passing Mr. Bullard, after much persuasion, induced him to go back to where the lady of the lake was and assist him in bringing the buggy to terra firma.

They tied a rope to the buggy with the intention of drawing it out of the pool. It occurred to Mr. Bullard, however, that if the buggy should upset the consequences to the young lady in it would be dire, indeed. With that presence of mind and gallantry, which are Mr. Bullard's chief characteristics, he dashed into the flood, put his strong arms about the unprotesting lady, who in turn got a firm neck hold on Mr. Bullard, and carried the precious burden to the shore.

It may be said that while Mr. Bullard's friends have been indulging in much merriment at his expense most of them envy him his delightful experience.

Committed to Stockton.

Mrs. James Devaney was arrested yesterday by Deputy Constable Russell on a charge of insanity and had her examination in the afternoon before Judge Harris and Drs. C. A. Rowell and A. G. Deardorff. Mrs. Devaney is between 35 and 40 years of age and her husband is absent, being a seafaring man. The unfortunate woman is suffering from acute mania. When one of her spells comes on she keeps the neighborhood awake of nights with her mad cries. Sometimes she beats her children in a very cruel manner. She imagines some one is conspiring with her husband to do her harm. Mrs. Devaney was committed to the Stockton insane asylum.

"You can talk about the mosquitoes of New Jersey or Florida," said C. T. Tappan of Oswego, "but they will not compare with the shad flies on the St. Lawrence river in the month of June. The shad fly will neither bite nor sting, but he comes in greater quantities than the locusts of Egypt. Doors have to be closed, and boys stand in the hotels to sweep the insects off the guests as they enter. They come like a cloud, or more like a blinding snowstorm, and when they first swarm objects cannot be distinguished across the street.

"I went boating on the river at one time when they made their appearance, and soon I was covered with them, the bottom of the boat was hidden from view, the surface of the river was strewn with their bodies, and the air was dark with them. I attempted to row back to Prescott and pulled hard in the direction I supposed it to be, but when I finally reached the shore I discovered that I was five miles away, and it took me several hours to get to my destination. I have heard of being lost in snowstorms, but this was the only time I ever experienced being lost in a cloud of flies."

THE NEW SCHOOLS.

PROF. HEATON'S SUGGESTIONS CONCERNING THEM.

The Importance of Proper Lighting and Ventilation Touched Upon.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education last night the following report regarding the lighting, heating and ventilation of the new school buildings, it is intended to erect, was submitted by Professor T. S. Heaton:

To the Honorable Board of Education: In selecting plans for the new school buildings, light, heat and ventilation are subjects of greatest importance. A recent writer on education has said, "Proper light and ventilation should be secured even if these cost as much as the building itself. Education has little value to the student whose eyes or health have been impaired."

I have frequently reported to you the defective lighting and total lack of ventilation in the present school houses. The increase of defective vision among the pupils is alarming. To bring the matter more definitely before you, I have submitted questions to the teachers at the K-street building, and present with this their written answers. The following were the questions submitted:

Effect of light in these rooms on eyes of pupils? What proportion of pupils have trouble with eyes? Is this number increasing? Effect on your own eyes? Would results be better to have window shades roll from bottom?

From the answers it will be seen that pupils' eyesight become worse the longer they are in our schools. None of our buildings are properly lighted. Lighting and ventilation have been made subjects of scientific study, and the results of this study should be incorporated into the plans of our new buildings. Respectfully submitted,

T. L. HEATON.

The plans submitted for the new ward school were taken up for consideration. After lengthy discussion the board decided to advertise for new plans, as the buildings, according to the present plans, would cost too much.

The bills of Barrett, Hicks & Co., for $76.85, and Donahoo, Emmons & Co., for $42.85, were allowed and ordered paid. The board then adjourned to next Saturday evening.

ANNUAL INSPECTION.

COMPANIES C AND F MAKE A GOOD SHOWING.

They Need New Uniforms Very Badly and Will Get Them Soon.

At armory hall last night companies C and F held their annual muster and inspection. Colonel T. J. Hay, assistant adjutant general, third brigade, acted as inspecting officer. General M. W. Muller, Colonel J. J. Nunan of Stockton, Colonel S. S. Wright and Major C. Chisholm were also present, and inspected the companies.

At the muster both companies turned out about 93 per cent. The inspection was very creditable, and was commended by the inspecting officers.

Colonel Nunan stated that new uniforms were badly needed. The new issue will soon be at hand, and the uniforms are said to be more serviceable than those used heretofore.

A new gun has been adopted by the United States war department, known as the Krang-Jorgensen rifle. It carries a lighter bullet than the Springfield now used, but about double the amount of ammunition may be used. A committee of military experts have been two years selecting a gun for our army, finally deciding upon this make. One regiment of regulars has already been supplied and others will be equipped as fast as the guns can be turned out.

After the inspection Major C. Chisholm presented to Company F an elegant gold medal, which is to adorn the breast of the soldier making the highest score at the next company shoot.

BECAME A THIEF WHILE INSANE.

Surprising Disclosures Follow the Return of a Convict's Reason.

Three years of imprisonment have lifted the clod from the mind of a man supposed to be a common horse thief, but who is now revealed as Dr. Herbert Spencer, formerly a prosperous London physician. As a climax to his strange adventure the board of pardons will be at once petitioned for his release from the eastern penitentiary in Philadelphia.

On Sept. 25, 1891, three horses were stolen from the stable of G. W. Youngman in this city. The thief was easily tracked and was captured at Mount Pleasant, Pa. In effecting his capture an officer was shot in the hip and another was wounded in the arm. The horse thief had a gunshot wound in the side, and one arm was nearly torn from the socket. He was brought back to Williamsport and locked in the county jail. While in prison he made half a dozen attempts to end his life. He was tried in December, 1891, under the name of Herbert Spencer Darwin, was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for 4½ years. Before sentence was pronounced it was pretty conclusively shown that at the time of his trial the man was insane. He has spent over two years in prison, and until the first of the present year he showed no change in his character or actions.

Then came a sudden and startling development. The condemned thief, who had shown so many signs of insanity and whose bungling attempt to steal three horses was easily overthrown, showed signs of returning reason. Quickly these signs multiplied, and now the prisoner, seemingly a perfectly rational man, announces his identity. He is not Herbert Spencer Darwin, but Dr. Herbert Spencer. He came to this country in 1890 with $6,000 in cash. He intended to locate in the United States.

Soon after his arrival his mind became a blank, and he recalls nothing that has happened the meanwhile. Through the penitentiary officials he learned where he had been tried and convicted. Sufficient proof has been gathered, it is asserted, to establish the truthfulness of Dr. Spencer's claims that he was insane when he stole the horses and nearly ever since. Friends will use every effort possible to have the unfortunate prisoner set free.—Williamsport (Pa.) Dispatch.

Eleven Hobos Arrested.

Eleven hobos appeared before Justice Austin yesterday on the charge of vagrancy. All but three pleaded guilty. Sentence is to be passed today at 11 o'clock. The constables and city police combined for a systematic raid Tuesday night to gather in the hard cases. The hobos have been quite bold of late in their demands for money from passersby. Very insulting remarks are made by them if assistance is refused. The officers are determined to rid the city of this undesirable element.

The Gypsy Moth Is Costly.

The gypsy moth is going to cost Massachusetts a pretty penny before the work of extermination is finished up. It appears that the sum of $215,000 has been expended already, and with an appropriation of $165,000 this year, $150,000 next year, $100,000 for the year following and $50,000 annually after that it is not difficult to calculate that a round million will have been exhausted before the pest is vanquished. This is a big bill to pay, but it isn't so expensive as the undisturbed ravages of the moth.—Boston Herald.

Mount Blanc In Winter.

The Mont Blanc observatory is undergoing its presumably worst season, and the most interesting news of the kind during the coming spring will be the account of how its occupants passed the winter and what observations they were enabled to make. But it is not expected that much can be done in winter, except in connection with meteorology, and we must look for whatever discoveries are to come through the advantages of high altitudes to the South American and Californian observatories.—English Mechanic.

Armour Met the Emergency.

Philip D. Armour is a man of vast resources. A few months ago an attempt was made by a grain corner to squeeze him. His own granaries were full, and the combination refused to let him have a square inch of space in their elevators. Armour had 3,000,000 bushels of wheat to place and 30 days in which to do it. He sent for his builder, told him what he wanted, and in 28 days the largest and finest grain elevator in Chicago had been erected and the grain stored in it.—Chicago Correspondent.

520—HEATHCOTE BASQUE. Sizes, 34, 36, 38 and 40 Inches, Bust Measure

Some of the newest ideas are embodied in this modish design. It has an added circle basque with shallow box plaits at the back, the sleeves are full but drooping, and the circle epaulets add width to the shoulders but no height. Though elaborate in effect, the design is very easily modified; the vest is only simulated by arranging the trimming to outline it; and the deep collar, the epaulets, the sleeve puffs and the skirt piece may each or all be omitted. If side forms are preferred in the back the pattern for the lining can be used for the outside also, as the lining has all the usual seams. This is an excellent model for all seasonable fabrics and permits of effective combinations of goods.

Half of the pattern is given in twelve pieces: Front, side gore, side form and back of lining; outer back, basque piece, standing collar, deep collar, epaulet and three pieces of the sleeve. The holes in the basque piece denote a box plait to be laid on the outside. The deep collar is to be placed to the upper row of holes in the front and back pieces. Place the upper edge of the epaulet to the lower row of holes in the front and back pieces. Gather the puff for the sleeve at the top, between the holes, and at the bottom, and place the lower edge to the row of holes across the sleeve.

Cut all the pieces of the waist lengthwise of the goods. Cut the skirt piece lengthwise on the front edges; the collars, epaulets and sleeve puffs bias, and the sleeves so that the parts below the elbows will be bias. Before cutting the goods be careful to read "Directions for Cutting" printed on the envelope.

34 and 36 bust measure will require four and a half yards of goods twenty-four inches wide and half a yard of velvet. 38 and 40 bust measure will require four and three-quarters yards of goods twenty four inches wide and half a yard of velvet.
